THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Editor.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1865.

THE NATIONAL UNION TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR,

Jonathan Worth, Esq.

OF RANDOLPH.

ELECTION THURSDAY NOV. 9th.

THE PEOPLE must be trusted with their Government, and if trusted, my opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union.—Andrew Johnson's Letter to Gov. Sharkey, of Mississippi.

THE NATIONAL UNION PARTY.

We acknowledge His Excellency, ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, to be the head and leader of the great National Union party. His reconstruction policy is at present the basis of that party, and we stand firmly upon it. This is the only party we acknowledge in this State.

Election Returns.

We shall be glad for our friends to send us the earliest news of the results of the election, for Governor, Congress and Legislature.

Gov. Perry, the Provisional Governor of South Carolina, and Gov. Sharkey, the Provisional Governor of Mississippi, have been elected to represent their respective States in the Senate of the United States. And in Alabama it is said that Gov. Parsons will be sent to the Senate.—They were not candidates for the office of Governor because it was determined to promote them to a different position. In South Carolina, Mr. Orr, the Administration candidate, has been elected Governor.

Gen. Humphreys, who was elected Governor of Mississippi, was the favorite of Gov. Sharkey and President Johnson. He advocated the admission of negro testimony, while his opponent, Judge Fisher, opposed it.

So that in South Carolina, Mississippi and Alabama, it seems that the people have been disposed to respect the preferences of the Washington authorities.—Char. Democrat.

The above statement that Gen. Humphreys of Mississippi was the favorite of Gov. Sharkey and the President, is not warranted by any thing we have seen in the papers or heard from any source. Judge Fisher was the old law partner and friend of Judge Sharkey, and it was generally believed at the time, that he was the choice of the Governor.

Nor is there any evidence before the public, that President Johnson has expressed a preference for any man for civil Governor in any of the States. Such an insinuation is unjust to the President, and is contradicted by his principles and declarations. Such is the influence of President Johnson's name in the South at the present time, that no election could be a free one, in which he would express a preference.

The Democrat is therefore mistaken, in supposing that the people of Mississippi, South Carolina and Alabama, in the election of Governors or Senators have had "respect to the preferences of the Washington authorities." The "Washington authorities" have expressed no preferences.—They have been disposed to treat the Southern people in matters of election, not as slaves to do their bidding, but as freemen. And the insinuation is both unjust to the President and insulting to the people.

Here is the plain truth in a nut-shell, and we defy proof to the contrary. The people of Mississippi and South Carolina have most heartily sanctioned the magnanimity displayed by Govs. Sharkey and Perry. They had no Court Journal to threaten or hector over the people. The people were never told in those States, vote for Sharkey or Perry and "go in" or vote for any one else and "stay out." The people of those States were never dictated to by the President or any one else as to their choice for Governor or Senator. Such was their confidence in and admiration for Govs. Sharkey and Perry because of their magnanimity, they would have elected them to any position they desired, and hence it is, when they did not desire to be Governors, they were made United States Senators.

So would it have been in North Carolina. If Gov. Holden had done as Govs. Sharkey and Perry did. If he had controlled the Standard and prevented it from threatening and insulting the people, Gov. Holden could have had any position he desired, without one word of opposition. He could have been Governor or Senator, just as he desired. If he fail in both, as we believe he will, he has no one to blame but himself and the Standard.

Heads Up.

We state upon the authority of what we deem reliable information from different parts of the State, that we consider the election of Jonathan Worth as certain. We do not say this for effect, but because we believe it. We shall be disappointed if Mr. Worth fails of his election. Yet if the people will otherwise, we shall submit. But we shall pick our flint and try again. We are in principle opposed now and ever to "strait-sectism."

The elections in New York are reported unfavorable to the Democrats. Gen. Slocum has been beaten for Secretary of State. Ben. Wood of the N. Y. News, was elected State Senator from the city.

The late election in Massachusetts has gone largely for the Republican ticket.

The "Clincher" Clinched.

We are authorized to state, that the statement of Dr. Sellers of Randolph, published in the Standard of the 7th, giving an account of a discussion between himself and Mr. Worth, is untrue. Mr. Worth made a speech at Ashboro, on the 8th of Aug., 1865, which Dr. Sellers did not hear, in which he argued as he did in his official report, which was endorsed by Gov. Holden, that no action should be taken upon the subject of the State war debt, until all the facts were known. He mentioned some of the arguments, pro and con, but declared distinctly he had not made up his mind on the subject. Mr. Worth has had no discussion with Dr. Sellers on this subject. If at any time they have had any conversation upon it, Mr. Worth denies positively that he took any position contrary to the one which he took in his official report.

Dr. Sellers was Gov. Holden's lieutenant in Randolph, and it is in this way we suppose, he is paying for his honors. Upon his recommendation, Gov. Holden appointed one Wm. Gollihorn, one of the magistrates to reorganize that County. He was one of the "Straitest-sect" men, and it was well known in the County and must have been known by Dr. Sellers at the time, that he recommended him that the said Gollihorn was the receiver and keeper of property known to be stolen by a gang of thieves and robbers, and which Gollihorn afterwards at first denied and then confessed, and was made to discover to the proper owners. We dislike to dabble in such matters, but the Standard will get into such company, and we are sometimes obliged to follow it in order to its exposure.

About half the extracts taken from the Standard during the war and published by Turner & Co., were written by Brother Pell, so called, when connected with this office.—Standard.

Well, "Brother Pell" never saw the day when he would back down from any thing he has ever said or written, and never will. "Brother Pell" is the same man with the same principles "he used to was," to-day, yesterday and to-morrow. When he was employed the first eighteen months of the war, to assist in the Standard office, he did write several things for the editor, which were published after his endorsement and approval. And it is likely some of those eloquent and stirring articles were written by "Brother Pell," and fully sanctioned by Mr. Holden, editor of the Standard. There are many also of the same sort, teaching the same thing, which were written by the EDITOR himself. But there is one thing certain, that nothing was ever written by "Brother Pell" for the Standard or any other paper, that favored secession, or that truckled and backed down after we got into the fight, until every body said, "enough." He was one of those old Union men who did not get whipped until Gen. Lee, and Gen. Johnston and Zeb. Vance did. Poor boys! the Joses, and the Governor and Col. Russ and the "strait-sect" generally, got whipped before Mr Lincoln and the North got fully in earnest. They turned pale and got stiff-legged and began to desert about the time of the Gettysburg fight, and never after got over their "skeer."—Such "last man and last dollar" men, wont do to tie to. We want either a man like Jonathan Worth, who don't believe in fighting at all, or one like Zeb. Vance, who believes that when you do begin, we should never give it up until we get "enough." And as we have got "enough," we shall go for JONATHAN.

County Ticket.

Messrs. Rayner and Moore we learn addressed the people at the Court House on Tuesday night. There are about ten gentlemen named in this County for the Commons and two for the Senate. Some of them who are so anxious to serve the "dear people" will certainly be left at home.—We recommend our friends one and all, who are opposed to the "strait sect" or the "red strings," to vote straight out the true National Union ticket:

For Governor.
JONATHAN WORTH,
of Randolph.
For Congress.
JOSIAH TURNER, Jr.
of Orange.
FOR THE LEGISLATURE:
For the State Senate: NATHAN IVEY.
For the House of Commons: T. JEFF. UTLEY, P. A. DUNN, JOHN J. L. MCCULLERS.

All that I ask or desire of the South or North, the East or the West, is to be sustained in carrying out the principles of the Constitution.—Andrew Johnson.

That 's the man that we stand up for against all comers. We are ready to abide by the principles of the Constitution, and we sustain the man who sustains them, the Standard to the contrary notwithstanding.

State of North Carolina,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, Nov. 2d, 1865.

The following persons having been pardoned by the President of the United States, will be entitled to vote at elections hereafter to be held in this State, in accordance with an Ordinance of the Convention ratified the tenth day of October, 1865.

By the Governor:
W. R. RICHARDSON, Private Secretary.

NEW HANOVER—Benjamin W. Beery, Wm. G. Fowler, Wm. A. Beery.
HERTFORD—Saml. D. Winborne.

Mails.

We have had no mails for the last twenty-four hours.

Confederate Bonds wanted by Messrs. Baker, Cowper & Co., to supply an order at once.

Wake County.

There must be in the County of Wake a very decided majority opposed to the "strait sect" party. Once upon a time the Standard and its clique were all powerful in the County. Many of the people were ready to swear by it. But in late years that influence has been broken, and we have discovered a freedom of thought and action among the people, which we admired. We prefer independence, manliness of thought and action among a people, if they are against us. An open, out and out, above-board course is what every man should maintain, if he is as poor as a Church-mouse. We despise a timid truckling, any where and in any thing.

During the recent contest however, the threats and intimidations of the Standard have had their effect in this county. Many of our people are still unpardoned. Their petitions are perhaps in the breeches pocket of Dr. Powell at Washington, or they have not presented them. Others have been dilatory in taking the oath. Many have felt that their pecuniary affairs were mor engrossing than the results of the election, and many especially among the Worth men—men who are opposed to the rule of the "strait sect" are silently "acquiescing or trying to harmonise" as Bill Arp says, and have grown timid under the lash of the Standard.

It was impossible to get men who were decided Worth men, to consent to run for the Legislature. Others to th is hour who honestly despise strait-sectism, are undecided about voting. Such a state of things is discreditable to the independence and proper spirit of the people. We believe a man should be a man, if as the Dutchman said, "I'm no bigger as my thumb." And that is the spirit which we need to put the breaks on political error and demagogueism, and drive it from the State.

To-day is the day for voting. The Worth ticket is before the people. The gentlemen named for the Legislature by the Worth men, have not declined to allow the use of their names. They are the very men who will serve if elected. We owe it to our manhood and the future welfare of the State, to rebuke the dictation and threats of the Standard, to put down the sperit of strait-sectism among us, and to give to Jonathan Worth, Josiah Turner and the rest, a strong vote. Let the Worth men come up to the rescue, and put their veto upon the illiberal spirit which seeks to control the affairs of the State.

"INSTEAD OF WASTING TIME IN TRYING TO FILL ALL THE CIVIL OFFICES OF THE STATE WITH ALL MY PERSONAL AND POLITICAL FRIENDS AND PARTISANS, I DETERMINED TO RESTORE THOSE WHO WERE IN OFFICE AT THE SUSPENSION OF THE CIVIL GOVERNMENT, AND WHO HAD BEEN ELECTED BY THE PEOPLE OR APPOINTED BY THE LEGISLATURE AND WERE FAMILIAR WITH THEIR OFFICIAL DUTIES."—Gov. Perry's Message.

Distressing Fire.

About half past 11 o'clock on Wednesday night, our citizens were alarmed by the cry of fire, which was soon discovered to be in a shoe shop on Wilmington street, opposite the Planter's Hotel. The fire spread rapidly. The city engines were out of order and could not be brought into requisition. In a very short time the whole block of buildings on the South side of Market Square were consumed. Messrs. Upchurch and Cook, Mr. King, L. H. Adams, Lynn Adams, M. B. Royster, J. Kinsey, Rev. A. L. Raven and Bagwell Brothers occupied the stores. Messrs. Upchurch and Cook's loss is estimated at $5000 in goods &c., Mr. King's was small, Mr. L. H. Adams about $800 in goods, Lynn Adams in goods and stores about $5000, Mr. Royster's small, Mr. Kinsey about $500, and the rest but little in goods. By great exertions many goods were saved. Mrs. Scott lost several buildings valued at about $5000, Mrs. Stronach one building worth about $3000, R. H. Battle Esq. lost his office, Mr. S. Rowland two buildings worth about $5000, the University of North Carolina one building worth $3000. Several others lost small amounts, who were little able to bear it.

The fire was checked by the greatest exertions. Capt. Garoutte and other officers and privates of the army, and many of our citizens and the freedmen, worked heardly and successfully in saving property and checking the flames. Had it not been checked at that point, it must have been one of the most serious fires ever known in the city. As it is, we have had no such fire in twelve years.

We are requested by Mr. J. Kinsey to return his grateful thanks to the people, for their exertions in saving his goods from destruction by the fire of Wednesday night.

SMALL POX.—We regret to learn that there are several cases of small pox in this city or rather on the outskirts and also at Camp Holmes. It is important that our people should be generally vaccinated. There is no danger in coming to market or in travelling our principal streets.

We call attention to the Card of Messrs Hood, Bonbright & Co., Philadelphia, with whom is our friend M. J. Moore of Stokes.

Henry Wirz, whose trial has occupied so long a time at Washington, on charges of cruelty to the Andersonville prisoners, was found guilty by the Court and will be hung on Friday next.

Government mules and horses have been sold in considerable numbers and at fair prices, for several days in this city. The sales have brought many persons from abroad.

There is some uneasiness felt in New York in reference to the cholera. Several cases perhaps have been reported, but the matter is not fully settled.

For the Sentinel.

MR. EDITOR:—This will be a memorable day in the annals of North Carolina. The future historian of the times will point to it as that on which was politically buried the North Carolina Standard. Nor will he fail to advert to the causes of its timely demise or to note the illustrious characters that followed it to its last resting place. Those of us who have been cotemporary with it, are sufficiently acquainted with the circumstances that led to its sad end. We have known it in all the pomp, pride and glory of its power—when the washed and unwashed multitude bowed at its bidding and trembled before its displeasure, and when its bulls of excommunication were as potent and absolute as those which were wont to issue from the Vatican itself at Rome. We have known it as "a power behind the throne, more powerful than the throne itself." Indeed it seemed after the lapse of ages, that the mantle of Warwick, the king maker, had in some mysterious way, fallen upon the Standard. Governors, Senators, Judges and Legislators sprang into political being at the mere nod of its head, and vanished at its displeasure. Thus we behold it at the pinnacle of ordinary aspirations, "binding and loosing"—"killing and making alive"—power, emoluments and homage. What more to be desired? The throne itself? Oh ambition! "thou first, primeval cause of all our woes," to thee the wandering ghost of the politically fallen Standard will turn and say, 'I listened but too well to thy syren whisperings.' I sought the civic crown to which thou didst point. Behold my fall, farewell ambition, farewell power, emoluments, homage." I shall leave it to the future historian, Mr. Editor, to moralise upon such a sad, event, and will turn to some of the illustrious characters, accompanying the Standard to its grave. An here I will say, that no funeral procession ever presented perhaps such an anomaly, such a diversity of mourners, as will the one in question. First, and as chief pall bearers, we shall behold politicians, bred and brought up in the school of Henry Clay, weeping over the political demise of a journal which for more than a score of years fought and combatted the principles of that great man. But "tempora mutantur, et homines cum illis." Next we will behold union men who, anterior to the commencement of the late disastrous struggle, more in favor of hanging or decapitating all those who preached disunion, following to its final resting place a paper which not only taught and enunciated secession doctrine, but voted secession ordinances. Oh consistency! Well may it be said, 'thou art a jewel." And last, though not least, (morally viewed) we shall see Vance men, those whom our late Governor took under his protecting ægis, and shielded from federal bullets, shedding crocadile tears over the political grave of a Journal that a few months ago, advised the government to offer a reward of $25,000 for that quondam friend and benefactor. Oh shame! where is thy blush! Oh ingratitude! the viper that strikes its deadly fangs into the bosom that warms and sustains it. Such Mr. Editor, is a short and imperfect sketch of some of the characters that will compose the funeral procession of the politically defunct Standard. Requiescat in pace.

VINDICATOR.

The Last Days of William Pitt.

In the London Christian Observer sketches of "Wilberforce and his Contemporaries," we find (September number) an interesting review of the career of William Pitt. We extract the portion relating to his last days.

On the back of all this enormous pressure came the last thundering blow. The news of the capitulation of Mack in October had reached London early in November. But the blow was lightened by the tidings of the victory of Trafalgar, which annihilated Napoleon's fleet, and rescued England from danger by sea. But on the 2d of December the great coalition of Russia and Austria, which Pitt had laborously framed, and from which he expected so much, was crushed on the field of Austerlitz. When he received these dispatches, Pitt asked for a map of Europe, and desired to be left alone; and soon after, when he reached his house at Putney-Heath, observing a map of Europe hanging on the wall, he said mournfully, but with the prophetic instinct of genius, "Roll up that map; it will not be wanted for ten years!" The effect of this blow on the weakened body was instantaneous; his look was changed; it became wan and sunk; his voice lost its rich melody; the powers of digestion were gone.

To a friend his servant said, that from this time he used to hear his master walking up and down his bedroom a great part of the night; that at times he would venture in, and had remonstrated with him; but even when he induced him go to bed, Pitt kept a light burning near him, and his bed was covered with papers. No wonder that the poor body could not stand such usage.—On the 9th of January, 1806, Pitt left Bath and returned to Putney Heath to die. The villa, which stands near the summit of the Heath, not far from the Telegraph, had been taken by Pitt when he resumed office in 1804, as a refuge from the labors of London, where, on dry soil and pure air, the laboring statesman might find rest.—Rallying for a moment in consequence of the change, he allowed some of his political friends to visit him, and converses with Lord Wesley and others with unabated vigor on subjects of public interest. But the excitement was too much and he fainted away. From that day, the 14th of January, he kept the house. The physicians at first buoyed themselves with hopes that their skill might save him. But on the 19th a typhoid fever set in, and all hope disappeared.—We borrow what remains of the story from the narrative given by the Bishop of Lincoln at the time to the Dean of Carlisle.

"The Bishop had often pressed the physicians to allow him to inform Mr. Pitt of his danger; but he had been constantly refused by them.—At length, on Wednesday, January 22d, (Pitt died on the 23d,) his physicians told the Bishop that it was nearly over, and that he might say what he pleased. On this the Bishop desired admittance into Mr. Pitt's room, and he and one of the physicians entered it together. "Mr. Pitt,' the physician said, 'the Bishop of Lincoln is here.' Pitt opening his eyes said, 'Well?' in a tone that expressed, 'What is there in that?' The Bishop then said, 'Mr. Pitt, I am sorry to find you so poorly this morning: I should much wish to read a prayer to you. In an instant Pitt turned to the other side of the bed, and said to his physician. "How long do you think I have to live?' When the physician hesitated, and muttered something, that it was certain he was much indisposed, but that many had recovered who had been as ill, and he might yet perhaps be restored to health, Pitt fixed his penetrating eye on him, and quietly asked him to leave the room. He then turned himself to the side on which the Bishop was standing, and looked steadily at him. The Bishop renewed his offer to so solemn an occasion. Pitt replied, 'I have lived so much in the habitual neglect of prayer, that I think it almost unbecoming, and I fear unavailing to pray now.' The Bishop answered this remark, and read some of the prayers of our Liturgy. There was then a long and deep silence; and after this Pitt said, 'I am sure I have had great infirmities, and done many things that I wish I had not done; but I have tried to follow God's will, and,' clasping his hands with great energy, 'I cast myself on the mercies of God, through the merits of Jesus Christ.'

On the following day Pitt died, and it is said that a servant, the same day not from Wimbleton to inquire after his health, finding no one to answer his inquiries, wandered into the house, went from room to room, till in the bed room up stairs which looks with its bow-window to the west over the Heath, he found the body of him who a few hours ago had filled England with hope and France with fear, stretched in that deep stillness which gives to death its awful power. Wilberforce remarks, "The time and circumstances of his death were peculiary affecting; and I really believe that it dwelt on the minds of the people in London for a whole week. But London soon returned to its gaiety and giddiness; and all the world has been for many days busied about the inheritance, before the late possessor is laid in his grave.

In our day, a distinguished statesman, struck by the death of two of his eminent contemporaries, spoke with impressive mournfulness of the brittleness of human reputation. A bustling member of Parliament answered him, that public life was not, after all, so vain, as we might live for posthumous fame. "Don't talk to me," he said, of posthumous fame, when I have seen that the fame of the greatest statesman does not last a week beyond his death."

Mr. Worth, as an upright and consistent politician, has one of the best and brightest records in the State. And pray, upon what is Mr. Holden's reputation based? We admit he has been a successful conductor of a bitter partisan journal. With what great measure has he identified his name? He has written on all sides of all important questions, and of course has been sometimes right—but by his tergiver sations equally often wrong. Does any one pretend he is known to the country as a statesman? Let us have the proofs!

He has once or twice been in the Legislature, and is a defeated aspirant both for Governor and United States Senator. His own party convention, in 1858, passed over his claims, and nominated Judge Ellis for Governor. The same winter Governor Bragg beat him in caucus for United States, Senator, and last year the "Mountain Boy," Z. B. Vance, beat him three to one—and now, we venture the prediction, that Jonathan Worth will do just the same thing. The people have got in the habit of voting against him, and they will keep on doing so in spite of the vaporings of the Standard—and all the threats and intimidation that can be used. Char. Times.

CIRCULAR

To the Freedmen of Western North Carolina, and adjoining District of South Carolina.

HEADQUARTERS FREEDMEN'S BUREAU,
Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 1, 1865.

Knowing that many of you have wrong impressions relative to your freedom, I send this Circular that it may correct many erroneous ideas which are operating very much against your interests. I have learned that many of you have the foolish idea that at Christmas you are to receive lands, horses and farming utensils; that you expect the United States Government to give to you a portion of your master's property or plantation. As to this, let me say to you all that the Government has no land in this portion of the State, and that all plantations and property of all kinds (except the negro) belong to your masters as heretofore—the Government having no claim upon them whatever. Any of you having such expectations, must at once and forever abandon such preposterous and absurd ideas, and any person or persons trying to make you believe anything of the kind, are either fools or knaves, and are imposing upon your ignorance.

The Government has given you your freedom, and you must not expect anything further from it. The Government expects you to labor and work out your own salvation and unless you do, you go back to slavery or a condition far worse. Any property that you may possess hereafter you must acquire by labor, industry and honesty. At the end of this year, those who have remained with their former masters and worked faithfully, will be paid liberally for their labor, and will be able to provide clothing and food for themselves and families for a portion of another year, and will, in the mean time, if they have so conducted themselves as to gain the confidence and respects of their employers, be able to retain their places for another year, or to obtain of others good situations and good pay. Many of those who have left their former homes and idled away the proper season for the making of crops, will at the end of the year, find themselves destitute of food and clothing, and in a situation far worse than slavery. A long winter is before you, and unless you provide for that time your families must suffer—yea, many must perish.

Many of you are under the impression that the Government will feed you. This is not so. Government will not feed any who have had an opportunity and are able to labor. You have had four months of freedom, and all that wished could get work for themselves and families; and those who have not improved the past four months of their freedom must abide by the consequences.

Ere long the troops will be withdrawn from the State. You will be left to provide for and protect yourselves. By your labor you can provide, and by your good behaviour you will secure protection. You must know that your freedom has taken away that interest which your former masters had for you. When in slavery you were their property—they valued you as dollars and cents—and it was their interest to feed, clothe, and nurse you in sickness; but now that interest has gone. The responsibilities that then rested upon them, now fall upon you and you only. Your first step now should be to establish for yourselves a character for industry and integrity, and unless you do so, your fate will be that of the North American Indian—your race will pass away and then you will be known only in name.

Then let me entreat you, as a friend, ere it is too late, to think of these things—to look upon the position as it is, and make the resolve that you will make a good name and a place in this great and free government.

The government has guaranteed to you certain rights and privileges. In those rights you will be protected. Your rights consist in your freedom to make your own contracts, to receive the benefit of your own labor, to choose your own employer, to keep and govern your own families, to educate your children, and to worship God after your own manner. The same powers that gave you these rights and privileges have imposed upon you certain and new duties, compelling you to labor to support your families, and to obey the laws of your country, to show respect and cheerful obedience to your employers, to fulfill and respect all contracts, to hold the marriage ties as sacred, and to so conduct and deport yourselves as to win the respect and confidence of all men. Fulfill, then, these requirements, and all will be well. Reject them, and your condition will be a far worse one than you ever experienced when in slavery. It is true that there are some bad men that will take advantage of your ignorance and impose upon you. Some may try to defraud you of your wages, and a few are wicked and cowardly enough to revenge their losses upon you by violence; but have patience, and ere long these matters will regulate themselves. But good behaviour on your part will ever gain for you the respect and protection of all good and just men.

Since I have been among you I have discovered that a majority of you look upon your former masters as your enemies, and upon the "Yankees" as your only friends. In this you are mistaken. I am from the North, and know well the feelings that exist there towards the negro. I know that a majority of the Northern people will not willingly consent to your becoming citizens amongst them. The Government, through a military necessity, has given you your freedom, and in that freedom the people of the North will ever protect you unless you become unworthy of their protection.

The South is your natural home, and Southern men will be your friends. The majority of you were raised, have grown up on the same plantations with your former masters; and I know it to be a fact that there is a feeling, a sympathy, existing between you that does not nor never can exist between you and the people of the North. If Southern men are your enemies it is your bad behaviour that has made them so. The fact is that you know not how to appreciate your freedom, and have grossly abused it.

Become respectful, obedient and honest to your employers, and you will find them first in paving the way for your future welfare. To become a prosperous and intelligent people, many of you will have to pursue a far different course from that of the past four months of your freedom. It is true that some have realized the responsibilities that freedom has brought upon them, and have been faithful and obedient to their employers. But many of you have become impudent, lazy and disrespectful to those to whom you must look for your support. Many are idling and loafing away their time around towns and camps, while their families are suffering for food and clothing, and many without shelter. You alone are accountable for the sad fate that awaits you.

Since I came among you I have learned the fact that as a people you have very little regard for the truth. In fact, I have lost all confidence in your veracity, and know not when or whom to believe. I find that you are disposed to utter falsehoods when the truth would answer your purpose far better.

Hereafter those coming to me for the purpose of getting justice in cases between themselves and employers, must come with the truth; if not they must not expect me to assist them in their difficulties. Such lies as you tell are not only impositions upon me, but upon the public, and must be stopped.

I have ascertained that many of you object to the system of written contracts. This is another evidence of your ignorance of freedom. Written contracts are the only safeguards to free labor.—It is simply the binding of two or more parties to fulfil a voluntary agreement or agreements between themselves and employers. These contracts are in no way connected with slavery, but a system adopted by free labor everywhere. By making contracts in writing you bind yourselves to do certain labor; the same contract obligates your employer to pay you for that labor. A contract is the proof of your agreement, and I advise that you make all agreements in writing, fulfil them to the letter, and the laws will ever see that you have your rights. For another year adopt this system, and by complying with your agreement you will have no trouble in collecting your just dues.

It has been reported to me that in some portions of this district, Freedmen are holding secret meetings. This is against the laws, and must be prevented, and any persons holding or participating in such meetings will be arrested and puuished most severely. What the objects of these meetings are I know not, but no good can arise from them, but much harm.

I also wish to caution you against one other matter—that is as regards your right to vote.—You have other and more important matters to attend to now. Never agitate this question, but leave it for others to settle. In order to vote, a man should be educated. You are not. Had you that right in your present situation, it would be a curse to you—you would be as so many tools in the hands of bad men and politicians. So dream not, talk not, of things that at this time would be to your disadvantage and to your injury.

In conclusion, let me say that this circular is sent to you for your good, for your own benefit.—Live and govern yourselves by it, and ere six months you will thank me for the advice and instruction contained in it. You must do for yourselves, or I can do but little for you. The opportunity is now offered you of becoming a great and prosperous people. In order to accomplish this you must labor, live honestly, uprightly and in the fear of God.

JOHN C. BARNETT,
Capt. and Asst. Supt. F. M. B.

A MAN MURDERED IN HIS OWN BED ROOM.—During the forenoon of yesterday, the dead body of Mr. John Cornell, a native of Ireland, aged apparently about fifty years, was found in his room in the third story of the building known as the Franklin Hotel, on Red Cross street.—He was employed as watchman at the depot of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, and has been missing since Tuesday, the 31st ultimo. Those who saw the body represented it to be the most awful sight they ever witnessed. His head and face were considerably swollen, and so completely covered with blood as to render it at first difficult to identify. Yesterday afternoon Coroner Wood summoned a jury and proceeded at once to the scene of the murder for the purpose of holding an inquest. The investigation continued until after night fall when a further examination of the case was postponed until 10 A. M. to-day. We understand that suspicion rests upon a certain party, and that an order for his arrest has been issued. The case will probably be concluded to-day and in Monday's issue will appear a full account of the facts as developed before the jury of inquest.—Wil. Journal.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSUSANCE COMpany of Hartford, have appointed

their General Agent for the establishing sub Agents in North Carolina and Virginia, according to his discretion. This Company has no superior in this country, is of long standing, and its Assets are over a million and a half dollars. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to reinsure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is issuing monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates are moderate and reasonable, and all losses promptly paid. Thus it is commended to all who wish to provide for their families and loved ones, a certainty for support when their earthly dependants shall have passed away.

For further information, call on the agent at his office formerly occupied by General Haywood.

WM. H. CROW, Agent.

Raleigh, October 27 67-1m.

North Carolina Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

AT A MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE Company on the 27th of September, an assessment of 15 per cent. was levied on all premium Notes in the office of the Company at the time the losses occurred, to be paid in three installments, viz: six, nine and twelve months from 1st October, 1865.

The amount of premium Notes on hand,	$220,000
" " Allowed Losses,	10,000
" " Unsettled do.	7,500

(There are some losses not yet reported, the amount of which, of course, cannot now be stated.)

The assessment may appear to be disproportionate to the amount of the losses; but the Directors, taking into consideration the changes in property by sale, without transfer of policies, by destruction during the war, &c., &c., do not think that more will be raised by it than will be needed to meet the actual wants of the Company.

There will be, necessarily some delay in the payment of the losses. It is hoped, however, that there will be no complaint on this account; especially, when it is recollected that payment in some cases, was tendered in Confederate currency and refused.

The Company is prepared to take risks as in former times, and on as favorable terms. Address all letters to the Secretary. T. H. SBLBY, Pres't.

LOUISBURG
FEMALE COLLEGE.

REV. T. M. JONES, A. M., Pres't and Proprietor.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION will begin on the second Wednesday in January, 1866.

Louisburg is a village seldom surpassed for health, intelligence, refinement and morality. It is in Franklin County, nine miles from Franklinton, on the R. and Gaston Railroad. Between these points there is a daily stage line, connecting with trains going North and South.

The College building, located in a beautiful grove, on an elevated site, is large, commodious and well ventilated. It will be thoroughly renovated, and fitted up with neat furniture and fire places in the dormitories. It is our purpose to establish for young ladies a school of the highest grade, affording superior facilities for the acquisition of a thorough and accomplished education.

With the advantages of a good library, a well selected Chemical and Philosophical apparatus, a competent Faculty, and large experience in connection with the Greensboro Female College, we hope, by a faithful discharge of duty, to merit a liberal share of patronage. Boarding pupils will live as members of the President's family. Terms reasonable, and will be made known in due time. Those desiring to send their daughters, will please address me, for the present, at Greensboro, N. C., and circulars will be sent.
